DONGOLA HAS FALLEN

The British Expedition Up the Nile So Far Successful.

A SHORT BUT DECISIVE FIGHT.

Dervishes Flee Before the Advance of the British-Egyptian Expedition — Native Welcome the Change in a Most Demonstrative Way—Further Advance Likely to Take Place—Details So Far as Learned.

KERMA-ON-THE-NILE, Sept. 21.—Dongola has fallen, and the nominal objective point of the British-Egyptian expedition has been reached.

The river forces of the British-Egyptian expedition, pushing up the Nile from El Hafir, landed a force at Dongola and occupied that place before the dervish forces retreating from El Hafir reached that point.

El Hafir and Dongola are therefore both in the hands of the expedition, while the dervish forces are somewhere seeking a refuge.

Saturday afternoon the long range firing was begun between the dervishes on the west bank of the Nile and the expeditionary force on this side. The Maxim guns, with their sweeping hail of fire, did great execution in the dervish ranks, while the field and horse batteries never allowed the enemies to do anything with their batteries.

Darkness put an end to the duel across the Nile water, and stillness fell upon both camps. The night was one of waiting, though the silence of the desert was once broken by a discharge from the Maxim guns on this side of the river.

In the morning every one was up at daybreak anxious to know what change in the situation had developed during the night and what would be the next move and eagerly scanning the enemy's camp across the river. There was no sign of life in the dervish works, but soon a commotion was perceived among the beats along the bank and a native in one of them was discerned in the net of waving something, as though for a signal to this side of the river.

The steamer Dal, of the expeditionary force, thereupon proceeded to the west bank of the river, where it was found that El Hafir had been evacuated by the enemy under cover of the night and that not a dervish fighting man was left in sight. The detachment on the Dal sent back to the camp on this side of the river 27 boats, which had been manned by the native residents of El Hafir, and loaded with a great quantity of grain. The natives announced that the enemy had departed and that Wad Bishara, the young emir of Dongola, who commanded the dervishes, was wounded in Saturday's fight. A shell from an Egyptian battery burst in his tent, inflicting wounds in his breast and head, the former being a severe hurt.

After the gunboats of the expedition had forced their way through past the forts at El Hafir and had proceeded southward toward Dongola, the dervishes apparently perceived that El Hafir was no longer the place for them and they prepared to depart. They buried as many of their dead as they had time for. The rest were prepared with a stone around the neck and thrown into the Nile.

Yesterday the news arrived here that the steamers and gunboats of the expedition had reached Dongola, and had landed a force, which immediately occupied the treasury and the grainstore, the principal stronghold of the town.

This news was received here with delight, as it is supposed that the enemy is now marching between here and Dongola in much hampered condition, by the reason of the number of their wounded, and their retreat along the river bank threatened by the steamers, which can destroy, at any moment, the food supplies stored at Dongola, if they can not hold that place against the retreating forces of dervishes until land forces of the expedition have advanced to co-operate with them.

This engagement at El Hafir seems to have altogether dismayed the dervishes, who placed great reliance upon the fort at that place. They believed that that fort would be able to prevent the passage of any of the steamers of the expedition up the Nile.

The artillery fire from this side of the river seems to have entirely disconcerted them, their batteries being destroyed as soon as the smoke from them indicated a target for the British and Egyptian gunners.

As soon as the news of the evacuation of El Hafir was received the correspondent of the Associated Press proceeded to cross the river and make a survey of the enemy's late position. It was found that their mud defenses had been built with great care, but the rifle trenches only permitted the men a very short and straight front for protection. Mats were still strown along and within the trenches and in the straw shelters were the remains of the carcasses of sheep, which had been killed to supply food to the defenders. The dead had been buried or thrown into the river.

Further south on the river bank was found their biggest battery. This work contains five embrasures for guns, three in front and two at the side. This battery had been terribly knocked about by the artillery fire from the east bank and from the steamers. Still further south was a big entrenchment facing toward the north and onto the Nile. There was noticed the same system of piercing the wall in such a way as to allow firing in only one direction. In this entrenchment it was apparent that the riflemen had made a plucky resistance, staying in the trenches all day and eating where they lay, as was evidenced by the quantity of dates and water-gourds lying about left in the retreat.

The native residents of El Hafir have welcomed the appearance of the British and Egyptian expedition and seem to regard their advance as assurance of a deliverance from the rule of the Khalifa and the Baggaras, the Khalifa's native tribe, who have exercised cruel dominion over the Nile tribes. From the description of the fight furnished by the natives it appears that the dervish cavalry kept out in the desert watching the fight and awaiting for a landing of opposing forces to take part.

Wad Bishara, the dervish commander, was wounded and was immediately carried out of range of the fire, repeatedly exclaiming to those who surrounded him: "Allah is against me!"

Wad Bishara decided to evacuate his position during the night. He was able to remove his guns, but he was forced to leave behind a great quantity of ammunition for both the artillery and the rifles. The dervish steamer which was sunk by the expedition's horse battery was said to have also been loaded with ammunition and guns.

Yesterday morning at 6:30 o'clock the troops of the expedition began crossing the river. McDonald's brigade was the first over and the soldiers were met with the wildest and maddest signs of delight by the natives. They shouted in a frenzied manner and danced about the troops, singing and shouting like lunatics.

The first use made of the captured dervish boats was to transfer the Second brigade to El Hafir, which is a very fertile spot, offering plenty of green herbage for the animals—a pleasing contrast to the rough rocks and desert sands of much of the march.

The losses of the expedition were only five wounded, despite the enemy's hot fire. The field horse battery and the men who handled the Maxim guns had an especially warm corner. During the engagement the men lunched behind any hasty shelter that could be devised.

The Maxim guns were manned by the Comanchie rangers, and the Tenth battalion was ranged along the bank of the river facing the dervish position. They fired three rounds at the enemy.

One of the most striking things noted during the fight was the long range of the enemy's Remington rifles. At a distance of 1,200 yards they were able to do a deal of damage, and some of their bullets struck at least 2,000 yards from the point of firing.

The weather for the last few days has been rather hot. The wind from the north has brought nearly all the boats up the river bearing sufficient supplies for the wants of the expedition.

It is the general impression here that the dervishes will not make any further stand. It is evident that Wad Bishara had brought up all his effective force from Dongola, intending to make a stand at El Hafir. Even if he is able to recover Dongola from the river force of the expedition, which has occupied it, it is not considered possible that he should make a stand there against the advance of the combined land and river force.

Newspaper Dispatches.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—An editorial in The Times with reference to the taking of Dongola says: "We may reasonably hope that the work of liberation will be speedily carried further south."

A dispatch from Kerna to The Chronicle says that the treasure chest belonging to the Mahdist leaders was on board the steamer which was sunk in the Nile.

Wad Bishara Misled.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—The Times correspondent at Kerna telegraphs to that paper: "Wad Bishara was misled into supposing that it was our intention to march on Dongola by this bank of the Nile. He therefore evacuated El Hafir and hurried in the direction of Dongola to oppose our crossing there."

CONFlict OF ORDERS.

Ten People Hurt by a Collision on the Union Pacific Railroad.

BUTTE, Sept. 21.—By a collision between the Union Pacific express from Salt Lake and the west, due here at 11:30 a.m., and a mixed train on the Montana Union bound for Anaconda, near Roekor, four miles west of here, at 11 o'clock Sunday forenoon, the engines of both trains and express and smoker of the Union Pacific were badly wrecked.

The following persons were hurt, none seriously: John Murray, Leadville, Colo.; Dan Green, Leadville; Quinn K. Murphy, Red Cliff, Colo.; Joseph O'Brien, Butte; Charles J. Justice, San Francisco; J. H. Elliott, Baker City, Ore.; Julins Jacobs, Butte; M. M. Burdick, news agent; H. E. Fisher, baggage master, and A. J. Jones, mail clerk.

The engineers and firemen saved themselves by jumping. The accident is attributed to a conflict of orders.

FLASH FROM A TELEPHONE.

A Man Killed by Lightning While Sitting Near the Instrument.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—A terrific rain, wind and hail storm was experienced in this vicinity Saturday afternoon. In some sections it almost took the form of a cyclone. At South Orange, N. J., several buildings were struck by lightning and burned. At Arlington a bolt struck the residence of Thomas Stewart, paralyzing for a time both Mr. Stewart and his wife.

At Bedford, N. Y., Edward Brown sought shelter with others in the Union depot. He sat in front of a telephone instrument. Suddenly there was a flash from the instrument and Brown fell dead. Others were badly shocked.

At Rathway, N. J., during the progress of a horse race a veritable cyclone came up. The wind with terrific force wrecked the judge's stand, on which there were half a dozen persons.

WEYLER KIND TO LEE

No Discrimination Against the American Consul General.

AN INTERVIEW WITH HIM.

Order of Arrest Against Him Removed by Weyler After an Explanation Is Made. The Patriots Growing in Power—Forcing Circulation of Discredited Paper. Suspected Filibusterers on Trial.

HAVANA, Sept. 21.—General Fitzhugh Lee, the United States consul general here, in an interview said:

"A few days after my arrival at Havana, at the invitation of my predecessor, Mr. Williams, I accompanied him on a visit to the competitor prisoners confined at Las Cabanas. Some days later I heard that it was against the regulations to allow foreigners to visit military forts at this time, even on visitors' day, as it is called, and that the officer commanding at Las Cabanas had been reprimanded by General Weyler for allowing me to make the said visit. The officer in question offered as an excuse that his subordinate officers on duty at the gates did not know, but supposed I was one of the visitors entitled to enter the fort on visitors' day."

"From abundant caution, and in order to prevent any occurrence of that sort in future, the commanding officer at Las Cabanas, I heard, had a notice posted in one of the guardrooms directing his officers to arrest and detain me if I should again attempt to enter the fort.

"When I heard of this notice I at once called General Weyler's attention to it, and he very promptly had it removed. I am informed that he reprimanded the officer who had it posted.

"I, or my representative, can now see any or all the American prisoners at any time that it is desirable to do so by simply sending notice to the commanding officer of the fort on the evening before. They can be seen and talked to alone if necessary.

"I think it is just to General Weyler to add further that I know of no instance in which he has made any discrimination against the consul general of the United States. Why, General Weyler has fined a Havana newspaper for using offensive language about the American consul general."

The outlay incurred by the Spanish government in making additions to the navy amounts to $35,000,000.

STRONG DESPITE MACEO'S DEATH.

General Collazo Says the Patriots Are Well Organized and Powerful.

TAMPA, Fla., Sept. 21.—The family of General Collazo has a letter from the general telling of the visit of General Gomez, General Collazo and others to the grave of Marti, which they suitably marked by a monument. General Collazo says: "We have about 1,500 men, and we expect 1,500 more tomorrow. A few yards from where I am writing there is a splendid piece of artillery mounted."

"The battle of Santa Ana was of vast importance. The enemy's loss was greater than we thought. They thought to find everything upset and disorganized with the death of General Jose Maceo, and they found themselves face to face with General Garcia, who fought them with superior intelligence and equal daring. Two days ago we heard that there had been an uprising in the Isle of Pines, and that Porto Rico was in an unquiet condition; if this is true, Spain will have her hands full. Our triumph is drawing nearer, day by day."

DEPRECIATED COIN.

Weyler Provides Penalties for Refusal to Accept Spanish Paper.

MADRID, Sept. 21.—Captain General Weyler has issued a proclamation which threatens severe penalties for the non-acceptance of the notes of the Bank of Havana at their face value, although they have already suffered a discount of 10 per cent.

The government is enforcing this proclamation despite the resistance of the commercial classes' troubles, as a cloak, behind which they are insidiously working. Coffee planters and exporters here are greatly alarmed at the fallings of prices in Europe.

Suspected Filibusterers on Trial.

WILMINGTON, Del., Sept. 21.—The taking of testimony has begun in the case of Captain Edward Murphy of the steamer Laurada, charged with being interested in setting on foot a filibustering expedition against Spain about Aug. 3.

NERVY CONSPIRATORS.

Over Half a Million Dollars Embezzled From the New Orleans Bank.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 21.—Ever since the closing of the Union National bank, due to the embezzlement of over $600,000 by the bookkeepers Colom and Leefe, through collusion with outside parties, intense interest has been manifested here as to the guilty parties. Various rumors have been circulating involving the good name of some of the most prominent business men of the city. It has been said that there was a regular syndicate composed of the two bookkeepers and five persons on the outside organized to gut the bank. Mr. Escott of the comptroller's office has been engaged in the work of examining into the bank's affairs since its failure.

The result of this examination was the arrest late Saturday of Louis Gallot. Gallot has surrendered.

charged with aiding and abetting Colom in the embezzlement of over $200,000 from the Union bank. Gallot was formerly chief and confidential clerk of August Bohn & Company, large cotton buyers. Gallot has lived high and spent money like water. His friends wondered how he could go the pace he was traveling, and some even ventured to question him on the subject. His reply was that he speculated in cotton futures and that he was very successful.

As usual, there is a woman in the case, a Mrs. Buscaron, a widow about 40 years old. Gallot bought her a palatial residence at Belvoir, Miss., where fashionable New Orleans residents spend the heated term. It was magnificently furnished throughout. She had living with her aged father and two sons just entering manhood. Gallot was a friend of the family and spent weeks at a time there. Neighbors would often comment on the style in which Mrs. Buscaron was living, but scandal was flushed by reports that the widow had been left a large fortune on the death of her husband.

While Gallot and his friend, Mrs. Buscaron, were enjoying the fruits of the former's ill-gotten gains, Colum, the partner in his crime, was sweating blood. He was a slave to his fears. He was the first man at the bank and the last to leave at night. His constant dread was that some one would get hold of the books during his absence and all would be discovered. When the exposure came he took poison rather than face the consequences.

Leefe, the other bookkeeper implicated in the swindle, has been at the bank for several days past assisting the expert examiner. Numerous discrepancies have turned up, although he claims to know nothing of how they originated. The arrest of Gallot is thought to be but the forerunner of others to follow.

POSTOFFICE STATISTICS.

Abstract of the Report of the Fourth Assistant Postmaster General.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—R. A. Maxwell, fourth assistant postmaster general, in charge of appointments and inspections, has made a report to the postmaster general for the week ending June 30, 1896.

It contains among a mass of figures the following statistics: Total postoffices in the United States, 70,359, of which are presidential, 3,635; number of appointments during year, 12,090; total number of complaints, 108,037; number of complaints disposed of, 100,205; complaints regarding registered mail, 5,817; number of these showing carelessness of postal employees, 34.

The number of complaints of ordinary mail was 31,843 as to letters and 29,060 as to packages. The public might save much of this trouble by greater care in addressing and stamping letters and packages.

There is a decrease of postoffice and mail burglaries and robberies. There were 2,074 arrests during the year. Of these 158 were postmasters, 55 assistant postmasters, 43 postoffice clerks, 14 railway mail agents, 34 lettercarriers, 49 mailcarriers and others in minor positions, 470 were postoffice burglars and 4,225 others not connected with the postoffice service.

Of 6,130 cases handled for misuse of mails the greater part was for sending obscene matter.

GERMAN SUGAR SYNDICATE.

Beer Manufacturers Intend to Protect Their Industry.

BERLIN, Sept. 21.—The national meeting of the beer sugar manufacturers was held in this city early in the week, and a resolution was adopted asking the Reichstag to amend the existing law so as to eliminate the paragraph restricting and localizing the amounts manufactured by each factory.

The directors were also requested to prepare a plan for creating a German sugar syndicate "in view of the dire needs of the industry," and the government was also asked to bring about an international agreement with France and Austria for the abrogation of direct and indirect export bounties, the uselessness thereof, it was asserted, was plausibly demonstrated.

WEDDED ON THE SIDEWALK.

Wandering Preacher Married an "Up-the-Creek" Couple.

JACKSON, O., Sept. 21.—Miss Sarah Jackson, living up the creek, and David Finley were married on the sidewalk here Saturday. The pair went to the courthouse, where they got a marriage license; then crossed the street and, under the shadow of the Merchants' hotel steps, they were joined for better or worse by Rev. Oylec, a wandering preacher.

A large crowd of passersby and the gossips at the hotel crowded about to witness the ceremony. After the ceremony the pair walked up the street with arms about each other's waists, forgotten of the world.

Shot the Constable.

CONNELLSVILLE, Ind., Sept. 21.—At Waterloo, five miles south of here, Adolph Case fatally shot Constable Charles Hart Saturday morning. Case left here some time ago under a cloud, and upon his return Hart attempted to arrest him, when the shooting resulted. Case made his escape, but bloodhounds are after him.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—A dispatch to the Times from Fort Salisbury, Matabeleland, dated Saturday, says that Major Janner has completely beaten Umtigoza's tribe, numbering 5,000 men, at Fort Charter and has captured all his strongholds. Umtigoza has surrendered.

The McKinley and McKinleyerat press continue to refer to Mr. Bryan and his supporters as Popocrats. Wait till the official ballots are out and the Courier-Journal and its crowd of kickers and these Republican editors will then know whom the law recognizes as Democrats in this fight.

WHEN the McKinley-erats held their convention at Vancleung a few weeks ago, the Hon. George T. Halbert was the only bolter they could muster. Last week a special was sent out from Vancleung that Palmer and Buckner would poll 500 votes in Lewis. Evidently that sensational correspondent is again getting in his work.

SENATOR SMITH, of New Jersey, has fallen into line for Bryan. He made a statement Friday in which he says that he bows to the will of the majority of his party and expresses the belief that the people may safely trust a Democratic President and Congress for whatever legislation may prove necessary for the welfare of the country.

In his speech at Frankfort, Mr. Bryan said:

"You ask me what is the policy of the Democratic party? I tell you that the Democratic convention has declared its policy, and that is the only authority that can speak on the subject. [Applause.] I do not mean to say that a man who was a Democrat and who believes that that policy will ruin this country is bound to support it, but I do say that the man who was a Democrat and who is not willing to support the party's creed ought to quit calling himself a Democrat and vote for the Republican ticket." [Applause.] Remember, my friends, that I do not question the right of each man to make his vote represent what he believes, but I do deny the right of a man to try and wrest the name of Democracy away from the Democrats of this country."

A REBUKE TO MCKINLEYITES AND BOLTOCRATS.

The Christian Standard, in a recent issue, gives the McKinleyites and boltoerats a rap they well deserve. Here's what the Standard says of the crowd who are predicting all manner of evil if Mr. Bryan should be elected:

A hurtful influence in our political campaign is the intense partisanship which predicts certain disaster if its particular contention is defeated. Of course there is a right and wrong side in every issue, and the welfare of the nation is to be affected in the settlement of every question. But he is a poor patriot and a blind reader of American history who imagines that the prosperity or ruin of seventy millions of people is wrapped up in the result of a present ballot on a difficult economic question. The majority of our voters have never taken a course in political economy, and this lack, coupled with the usual party prejudice and sectional feeling, may, in particular cases and without ample time for discussion, lead them astray. The sure basis of our national life is moral, rather than intellectual. Love for country, love for home, pride in a glorious history, and faith in republican institutions are well-nigh universal in this land. While it is to be desired that we make no economic mistakes, there is deep satisfaction in recording the conviction that the common honesty, the unquestioned patriotism and the moral and religious training of the American people will save them from going far in any direction which will be hurtful to the honor and welfare of the nation.

IGNORING THE REAL CAUSES.

During the last seventeen months of the Republican tariff law there were imported into this country 140,000 tons of hay, and during the first seventeen months of the Democratic tariff law there were imported 373,000 tons. Depression in agriculture has always followed low-tariff legislation.—[Mr. McKinley to farmers at Canton.]

The following table shows the size of the domestic crops and the imports and exports, in tons, for the fiscal years named:

	Crop.	Imports.	Exports.
1891	53,000,000	58,242	28,066
1892	57,000,000	79,715	35,201
1893	65,766,000	101,257	33,084
1894	48,321,000	86,784	54,416

It will be seen that our crop in 1895 and also 1896 was from 6,000,000 to 10,000,000 tons short of the '91, '92 and '93 crops. And we would have been compelled to import just that much to bring our supply up to what it was in '91, '92 and '93. If hay is lower now than in the years last named it is evident that the decrease must be attributed to some other cause than the importation, the 373,000 tons, which is a "mere drop in the bucket," when brought in competition with 47,000,000 tons.

Mr. McKinley well knew this when he tried to mislead the farmers in the speech referred to above. Either that or he is grossly ignorant on the subject.

CAMPAIGN NEWS.

Good News From Robertson—Nice Meeting at Choctaw—At Other Points.

Messrs. George W. Sniser and Allan D. Cole addressed the Choctaw Bryan club Saturday night. A good crowd was present, and the speakers were given the closest attention during their discussion of the issues of the day. Several new members were added to the club during the evening.

Master Commissioner Keloe addressed Robertson County Democrats at Mt. Olivet Saturday afternoon. Notwithstanding the weather so bad, a big crowd was out. The Pinhook band furnished music. A Bryan club, with over 100 members, was organized. Judge Kenton, President. Twelve or fifteen Republicans joined the club. Robertson County will be thoroughly organized.

City Attorney Chamberlain spoke at Minerva Saturday night, and had a big crowd out to hear him. Every Democrat in that precinct except one is a member of the Minerva club.

The Tanglewood Bryan club had 91 members at last accounts and is still growing.

Clubs desiring campaign literature should address Mr. C. Burgess Taylor, this city.

CINCINNATI TOBACCO MARKET.

Low Prices Have Caused Limited Offerings—Buyers Discouraging the Money Question.

The Cincinnati Leaf Tobacco Warehouse Company, in its circular for the week, has the following:

The low prices of tobacco have caused limited offerings the past week, and, while prices have not shown any further decline, the manufacturers show no desire to make large purchases of the old crop, and the market is left almost entirely to the manufacturers' agents at this time. The speculators purchased quite freely some time ago, under the impression that the market had reached rock bottom, and with a further decline they are unable to dispose of their holdings, and, having their funds invested, it has naturally put them out of the market, leaving the breaks to the manufacturers without competition who are buying necessity requires, which will probably stifle the sales of the old crop into the marketing of the new, and all hopes of any material advance on the old crop are gone, "where the woodbine twineth."

A large portion of the offerings has been of the medium grades, very few fancy hogsheads offered, probably from the cause that we do not have them to offer, because the manufacturers bid liberally on the best tobacco, especially where they have good color, and our shippers generally take advantage of the demand when they have the stock on hand.

As the season advances there is no scarcity of low grades, and the prices of to-day will not more than pay the expense of curing, packing and marketing, without the cost of growing, and we hope to be spared from a similar crop for many years to come.

The reports from the country are favorable, the weather is good for curing, and we anticipate a good, serviceable crop, and one that our manufacturers will be willing to place in stock, and we are sure prices will be much more satisfactory to the growers.

THE LATE JAMES BARBOUR.

A Tribute to Deceased From the Mason County Bar—The Funeral Services Sunday Largely Attended.

A meeting of the members of the bar of Mason County was held on last Saturday afternoon at the court house, to take action relative to the death of Hon. James Barbour, a member of said bar. Judge Emery Whitaker was chosen Chairman and Mr. Geo. W. Sulser Secretary.

On motion, Mr. Thos. A. Respass, Judge G. S. Wall, Hon. E. L. Worthington and John G. Hickman, Esq., were appointed to prepare suitable resolutions of respect, with instructions to have same published in the newspapers of the city, a copy furnished to the family of deceased, and to report said resolutions to the Mason Circuit Court and Mason County Court at their next November term.

The meeting then adjourned.

RESOLUTIONS.

WHEREAS, The members of the Mason Bar and the officers of the Mason Circuit and County Courts have learned with profound sorrow of the death of our esteemed associate, James Barbour, who has been suddenly cut down in the maturity of manhood and usefulness; therefore,

Resolved, That we, his brother members of the Mason Circuit and County Courts, have met on this mournful occasion to render to our deceased brother a last and well merited tribute of our respect for his memory. Just and upright in all things, his walk in life was peaceful and unassuming, virtuous and dignified, and we are at a loss which most to admire—his unvarnished urbanity as a gentleman, his ability as a lawyer or his irreproachable and exalted character as a man.

Resolved, That as his daily associates and friends in social and professional life we most deeply deplore his loss, and feel that one of the worthiest citizens in our land has been stricken in the midst of his usefulness, and one of the ornaments of our profession has departed forever.

Resolved, That we most sincerely sympathize with his bereaved family and relatives, and respectfully offer them this testimony of our confidence.

Resolved, That a copy of the proceedings of this meeting be presented to the bereaved family, and the Chairman of this meeting be directed to present them to the honorable Judges of the Mason Circuit and County Courts on the first day of their respective terms, with the request that they be spread upon the records of their courts, and that the editors of the city papers publish them.

THOMAS A. RESPASS,
E. L. WORTHINGTON,
G. S. WALL,
JOHN G. HICKMAN.

The funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the First Presbyterian Church, under the auspices of Ringgold Lodge No. 27, I. O. O. F. The church was crowded with relatives and friends of the deceased and members of the order, who took this opportunity of paying a last tribute to one whom all loved and esteemed so highly. The pastor, Rev. Dr. Hays, assisted by Rev. W. O. Cochrane, pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church, officiated. In his discourse, Dr. Hays spoke in feeling terms of the deceased, and the great loss this community and the church had sustained in his death. Many were moved to tears by the pastor's touching allusions to the deceased.

At the conclusion of the services the remains were reconveyed to the family residence, where all who desired to do so were given an opportunity to view them for the last time.

Captain N. Cooper, and Messrs. James Smith, M. C. Russell, A. M. J. Cochran, R. K. Hoeflich, C. M. Phister, Robert A. Cochran and J. Barbour Russell were the pall-bearers.

The remains were taken to Danville this morning for interment.

A SPECIAL from Vincennes Saturday says that Thomas W. Irwin, who was struck on the head with a stone at Martinsville during a free silver meeting, still lies in a precarious condition, and grave fears are entertained that he will not recover. James Miller, who is said to have struck him, has escaped. Additional warrants have been sworn out against the rioters now in jail, charging them with intimidating speakers. The meeting referred to was the one where a lot of Republican "tonghs" tried to prevent Judge Phister, of this city, and Hon. Joe A. Parker, of Louisville, from speaking.

The exposition business has certainly been overdone, yet most of the world that can afford it will undoubtedly visit the Scandinavian show to be held at Stockholm in the summer of 1897. The most interesting part of the exhibition will undoubtedly be the Scandinavians themselves, the red haired Danes, the flaxen haired Swedes and the darker complexioned Norwegians and Finns, who will unite as one people to make the exposition illustrious. There are no more interesting peoples on earth than the strong, clear eyed Scandinavian race, descendants of the Vikings and Norsemen who discovered America centuries ahead of Columbus. Americans will be glad to visit at home these people, who send such fine specimens as immigrants. Scandinavians who come to us have dazzling pink and white complexions and constitutions of wonderful vigor and endurance and youthful looks that outlast middle age. They are among the best educated and most intelligent of our immigrants and quite honest and dependable. It is fine blood, that of the old Norsemen and Vikings. The clear eyed honesty and earnestness and the vigor of the Scandinavians is reproduced in their art and literature, making both pre-eminent in this morbid, nervous age.

THE Y. M. C. A.

State Secretary Rosevear Given a Cordial Reception—Rev. B. Fay Mills' Coming Lecture.

MR. H. E. ROSEVEAR, the State Secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association, was given a cordial reception at the association hall yesterday afternoon, and his earnest, thoughtful address on the question of "A Life Choice" was very much enjoyed and appreciated by the men present. Immediately after the address the rally was closed as several present wished to attend the funeral of Mr. James Barbour.

Since it was announced last week that the committee of the Y. M. C. A. had secured Rev. B. Fay Mills for a lecture in the opera house on Wednesday evening, September 30th, many have commended the association and the members of the committee for their making it possible for the people of our community to hear and meet this most noted speaker and evangelist. His fame and marvelous success of the past ten years and especially his great work in Louisville during last winter and in Cincinnati a year or two previous, has undoubtedly come to the knowledge of the majority of our citizens, and now that he is to come in our midst, even if but for one evening, all ought to unite in securing for him a large audience and most enthusiastic reception.

The tickets for the lecture, at 50 cents for the floor seats and 25 for the balconies, are to-day being placed in the stores and in the hands of several members, and a large sale is expected.

A BANKER CONVERTED.

Colonel John Taylor, of Newport, Tells Why He Will Support Bryan.

[Enquirer.]

Colonel John Taylor, the wealthy and well-known Newport (Ky.) banker, and great nephew of President Zachary Taylor, who has been an uncompromising gold advocate, has joined the Bryan triumphal procession.

"Colonel Hunt and some of my banker friends twitted me at Lexington on changing over," said Colonel Taylor to the Enquirer man at the Grand, "and wanted to know the reason of my conversion. I told them it was solely because I love my party and country better than money. That's all of it. I am not a politician and never expect to be. I was at White Sulphur Springs recently before I had concluded to support Bryan. A very wealthy friend of mine from New York said to me: 'John, the only way we can beat that fellow Bryan is by buying the judges of election and counting him out. We cannot buy the whole people, and they seem bent on electing him.' I asked him if that was not very wrong and dangerous experiment or precedent, and he excused it by saying it would be for the good of the country and the end justified the means."

Healthy, happy children make better men and women of us all. A little care and a little planning before birth is often more important than anything that can be done after. On the mother's health and strength depend the life and the future of the children. A week and sickly woman cannot bear strong and healthy children. Most of the weakness of women is utterly inexplicable. Proper care and proper medicine will cure almost any disorder of the feminine organs. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been tested in thirty years of practice. It is healing, soothing, strengthening. It is perfectly natural in its operation and effect. By its use, thousands of weak women have been made strong and healthy—and have been made the mothers of strong and healthy children. Taken during gestation, it makes childbirth easy and almost painless and insures the well being of both mother and child. Send 25 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 100 page "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

MR. J. T. KACKLEV, who was painfully injured while bicycling riding Friday evening, is still confined to his room, but is improving. He sustained a severe sprain of one of his ankles, and it will be several days before he will be able to get out.

THE remains of Mrs. Lydia Blalock were brought here from Cincinnati and taken to Hickory Ridge, back of Aberdeen, for burial Sunday. She died September 17th, of consumption. Deceased was twenty-five years old, and was a daughter of Samuel Flaugher.

THE news comes from Frankfort that there is a deal on between railroads throughout the South to increase freight rates from St. Louis, Louisville and other big shipping points. The increase will be about one-third. It will go into effect in a week or ten days.

THE wife of Mr. John T. Bratton died Saturday at the home of the family in the West End after a lingering illness. She was a daughter of Mr. Coleman Wilson and about twenty-one years old. The funeral occurred Sunday at 4 p.m. Services by Rev. F. W. Harrop.

AFTER DYNAMITERS.

One Arrest Made in Sensational Affair at Sardis, Ohio.

SARDIS, O., Sept. 21.—Excitement over the dynamiting of the saloon and residence of Mrs. Mary Wetsbrot in this place early Friday morning is unabated. Little importance is attached to the arrest of Sherman McClain on a warrant sworn out by Mrs. Wetsbrot, who alleges that the prisoner threatened to "get even" with her because she refused to sell him liquor after having been notified not to do so. McClain, who is a young married man and a son of Dr. J. B. McClain, is still held.

Bloodhounds were brought from Williamsburg and were taken to the scene. The dogs were placed on the trail at intervals during the day, but after following the trail for a short distance they became confused.

Considerable excitement was caused by the rumor that McClain had made a full confession after being informed that the bloodhounds were being used to locate the dynamiters. It is now said that other arrests will be made.

FULL OF BITS OF STONE.

Dynamite Explosion Kills Four and Fatally Injures Another.

CLINTON, Mass., Sept. 21.—A premature explosion of dynamite in shaft No. 2, on the Nashua river tunnel of the Metropolitan water basin at this place, occurred at 6 o'clock Saturday night while five employees were at work in the shaft. Three were instantly killed and a fourth victim expired before the ambulance could reach the Clinton hospital. A fifth workman is at the hospital and is not expected to live, having suffered a fractured skull, while his body and limbs are filled with pieces of jagged rock.

It is the opinion of some of the foremen at the shafts that a flash of lightning is responsible for the deadly work. The dead are: Andrew Kelley of New Jersey, foreman; William Greene, James Perry and Reddy Carroll, the last three colored.
